

Welcome to Polly's
25th Anniversary

Sponsored by WUTR - TV

Polly, a Moluccan Cockatoo, is celebrating her 25th year at the Utica Zoo. Polly has been seen in education programs and on exhibit during the summer at the Zoo for many years. She is well known to residents of the Mohawk Valley, and many visitors arrive each year and ask if she is still around. Today we honor her service to the residents of Central New York and her fellow birds around the world as an Educational Ambassador and Entertainer. The days activities are as follows:

- 11:00 Animal Show featuring Polly and other zoo residents.
(Childrens Zoo Pavilion)
- 11:30 - 3:00 Dave Johnston, a long-time zoo docent, will be present at Pollys exhibit to tell visitors about Polly and answer questions.
- 12:00 Sea Lion Feeding and Behavior Demonstration (Childrens Zoo)
- 1:00 Gathering at Pollys exhibit to sing Happy Birthday.
(Childrens Zoo) (Cake will be served while available)
- 3:00 Sea Lion Feeding and Behavior Demonstration (Childrens Zoo)
- 11:00 - 3:00 The Caged Bird Society will have a variety of parrots, cockatiels, macaws, and more on display in the auditorium.
- 11:00 - 3:00 Kids can make and take home their own cockatoo. Be sure to stop by the craft table on the walkway going to the Childrens Zoo.
